

Greeting, [name]!

There is adventure in your future, that much is certain. Whether you trust me on that or not, it's true. All your paths lead to that.

Which adventure is less clear, less sure. You have some choice about that.

There is a path I can recommend, if you decide to trust me. If you can get yourself to Tashimeet at The Knot for the Festival of Stars, 749, you will have a chance to do much good. I'm not promising you Fate or Destiny or anything so high-flung, just pointing you to one adventure among many open to you.

The choice is yours. Good luck, whatever path you take.